

Inlight Body Butter Review

Inlight body butter is one of the most amazing body moisturisers I have come across, after years of searching. Many body lotions and creams tend to sit on the skin and not absorb too well, and you become irritatingly aware that it has still not yet absorbed. Some oils may be just that:- too oily, and this may be a problem when you want to put your clothes back on after application, and get on with your day - although oils do create a wonderfully relaxing massage. Balms are often great, but may miss some of the properties of body butters. Imagine my surprise on discovering a body butter that ticked all of the required boxes! Inlight Body Butter impressed me right from the time of opening the package:- the beautiful indigo blue jar is of a great design and aesthetically pleasing logo urges you to delve into discovering what lies beneath the silver lid. Inlight Body Butter is 100% organic - and this is something refreshing, as Pure Gaia constantly is on the outlook for products with a high percentage of organic ingredients as possible, I can see Inlight have "gone the extra mile" in ensuring you receive a natural quality product, and it is also soil association certified.

On application, I noticed the body butter is more similar to a body balm in texture, yet silky like a creamy lotion, and massages in like an oil, and replenishes like never before! A heavenly herbal scent wafts up as you massage the body butter into your skin, and one of the first qualities of this product to amaze me was the way it reconditions the skin:- this sincerely is not something that I have discovered all products to have an ability to do. There were areas on my body that seemed to drink up the body butter rapidly such as the decollete area, whereas I had not found products that would absorb properly into the skin on this area before. I visually noticed a retexturing of the skin - it looked and felt different. I have sensitive skin that tends to let me know if a product is not absolutely pure, and this product did not react, but better still,

TEXT SIZE

Terms & Conditions

Scroll To Top

Designed by Tradeshack75.com

As I read the accompanying leaflet of the Inlight range I find myself agreeing whole heartedly with the following:-

"Inlight's natural oils are close in affinity to the skin's own composition and offer nourishment and health-giving properties".

As Inlight use all natural ingredients that assist the product containing all that is required for maximum performance, no dubious additions become necessary whatsoever. I find myself letting out a sigh of relief, after finding many companies that can't seem to help themselves from adding toxic substances into their product:- I certainly find it hard to understand the need to do this. Keep a product pure, clean and clear is my motto! To know the products are individually handmade within the UK - in Cornwall, means no airfreight is necessary, and the products are also free of all synthetic ingredients, and this was evident in the luxurious quality of the product. Another "bonus" is that there is no alcohol in this product (yes, you might be amazed if you begin to read labels - at how many products include alcohol in their ingredients list), no water (so you have one great concentrated product and not an inferior dilute version), and it is non-GM (so pure as you can get)...and the icing on the cake, so to speak, is that it comes in 100% eco-friendly packaging. Below are the wonderful ingredients in this evolutionary skin product:-

Key Ingredients:-

Coconut & Olive Oils – intensely nourishing and soothing
Evening Primrose Oil, Jojoba & Sesame Oils – rich in Vitamin E, antioxidant Rosehip Oil – heals and rejuvenates (transretinoic acid)
Gotu Kola – improves elasticity, promotes regeneration of the skin
Horsetail & Nettle – to restore mineral balance and purify

Other ingredients:-

Cocos nucifera – coconut oil – moisturising, nourishing

Olea europaea – olive oil – soothing, antioxidant

Sesamum indicum – sesame oil – nourishing, antioxidant

Buxus chinensis – jojoba oil – nourishing, to promote elasticity

Cera alba – beeswax – soothing, protective

Rosa canina – rose hip – antioxidant

Helianthus annuus – sunflower oil – nourishing, antioxidant

Oenothera biennis – evening primrose oil – antioxidant, regenerating

Lavandula angustifolia – lavender – anti-inflammatory, cytophylactic

Centella asiatica – gotu kola – promoting elasticity, regenerating

Equisetum arvense – horsetail – restoring mineral balance

Plantago major – plantain – to promote tissue healing

Urtica dioica – nettle – purifying, restoring mineral balance

Citrus limonum – lemon – astringent, promoting healing

Cymbopogon martinii – palmarosa – cytophylactic, toning

Rosa damascena – rose – promoting healing, astringent

Calendula officinalis – marigold – promoting healing, anti-inflammatory

Vaccinium myrtillus – bilberry – antioxidant

Daucus carota – carrot – antioxidant, (beta carotene)

The Inlight range is formulated by Dr Spiezia and his wife Loredana. Dr Spiezia is a medical doctor and homeopath, and has created the range from 30 years of scientific research, and through his understanding of the way the skin functions, the inlight range offers something totally unique to the world of skin care.

To find out more about the Inlight skincare range, please visit the Inlight Facebook page:-

<https://www.facebook.com/Inlightorganicskincare> and the Inlight Skincare website:- <http://www.inlight-online.co.uk/>

